

Johns Hopkins University
3rd Annual Public Health in Asia Symposium Presents:

THE PRICE OF PROGRESS

Public Health Challenges Arising From An Evolving Asia

Call For Papers

The rapid growth within the Asian region has been highly beneficial in a multitude of ways, but new challenges frequently follow new advancements. As Asia modernizes and urbanizes, it is forced to combat unprecedented health threats. This symposium seeks to bring forth a holistic view of Asia's public health status through a representation of many different nations.

Topics of interests include but are not limited to:

- Aging population
- Emerging epidemics
- Climate change
- Environmental pollution
- Rapid industrialization
- Adverse health behaviors
- Mental health
- Maternal and perinatal conditions

Proposals should include the paper's title, the author's contact information, and an abstract of no more than 300 words.

The deadline for proposal submission is January 10th, 2016. Please send proposals to PHSA@jhu.edu.

Saturday, 18 February 2017
Johns Hopkins University,
Baltimore, Maryland

